

From: "Joshua Beatty" <jfbeat@wm.edu>
Subject: [Science Faculty] 14th Annual Undergraduate Science Research Symposium
Date: January 10, 2008 10:55:04 AM EST
To: sciencefaculty@wm.edu

Dear science faculty,

We'd like to ask you to encourage your undergraduates to sign up for William and Mary's 14th annual Undergraduate Science Research Symposium.

The symposium will be held at the University Center on Friday, February 22, between 1 and 5 PM. There will be posters set up and several panels of speakers.

Last year we had well over 100 individual presentations -- many with multiple authors. This year we're prepared for an even better turnout.

In particular, we would like you to encourage your best students to give oral presentations rather than poster presentations.

The final deadline for registration is noon on Wednesday, February 6.

Each department has a liaison who is certainly the best person to ask project-specific questions. You can find the list of liaisons at the Science Symposium website:
<http://www.wm.edu/charlescenter/sciencesymposium.php>.

I will be happy to answer more general and organizational questions.

Thanks for supporting the Undergraduate Science Research Symposium!

Joshua Beatty
Graduate Fellow, Charles Center
jfbeat@wm.edu